

NATIONAL INSTRUCTION 4 OF 2014

PUBLIC ORDER POLICE: CROWD MANAGEMENT DURING PUBLIC GATHERINGS AND DEMONSTRATIONS

1. Background

- (1) The Bill of Rights set out in chapter 2 of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, 1996 is the cornerstone of democracy in South Africa. It enshrines the rights of all people in our country and affirms the democratic values of human dignity, equality and freedom. The Service respects and aims to protect, promote and fulfil the rights in the Bill of Rights.
- (2) Everyone is equal before the law and has the right to equal protection and benefit of the law. Members of the Service may not unfairly discriminate directly or indirectly against anyone on one or more grounds, including race, gender, sex, pregnancy, marital status, ethnic or social origin, colour, sexual orientation, age, disability, religion, conscience, belief, culture, language or birth. The Service respects that everyone has the right, to assemble peacefully and unarmed, to demonstrate, picket and present petitions.
- (3) The rights in the Bill of Rights are however subject to the limitations contained or referred to in the Bill of Rights.
- (4) The mandate of the Service, as set out in section 205(3) of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa is, inter alia, to maintain public order, protect and secure the inhabitants of South Africa and to uphold and enforce the law.

- (6) Public Order Policing requires the maintenance of public order firstly by ensuring public order during public gatherings and demonstrations and secondly by intelligence driven crime combating and prevention operations.
- (7) The purpose of this Instruction is to regulate the crowd management environment and, if violence is anticipated or has occurred during any gathering or demonstration, the restoration of public order.

- (8) The Regulation of Gatherings Act, 1993 (Act No. 205 of 1993), shifted the focus away from obtaining permission to hold a gathering, to giving notice of an intended gathering. The Act prescribes the procedure that must be followed when the Constitutional rights to protest, petition and freedom of speech are exercised. In order to give effect to the purpose and objectives of the Act, this Instruction must be read in together with the Act.
- (9) The South African Police Service (the Service) must, in partnership with the community, metropolitan police services and other agencies, devise effective methods to promote public safety, as well as reassuring the community that they are protected. To ensure this, the Service must play a pro-active role in attempting to identify and diffuse any possible conflict before it escalates into violence. This is to be done by communicating with the public, organisers and participants.
- (10) The Divisional Commissioner: ORS is in full command and control of national POP units deployed and geographically situated in the provinces and must together with the provincial commissioners maintain the capacity to provide effective crowd management in order to maintain public order.

11. Pre-planning of operations

- (1) The designated Overall Commander is responsible for well-planned and co-ordinated actions for the duration of an operation.
- (2) All operational plans must be compiled and implemented according to a specific planning framework determined by guidelines of the Division: ORS. The planning framework (doctrine) must be integrated into and taught as part of a formal learning programme aimed at the development of command leadership.
- (3) The Overall Commander of the operation must —

Step	Action

2	collect information regarding — (i) the actual route the participants plan to follow (the information on the planned route is normally obtained at a meeting held in terms of section 4 of the Act); (ii) the likelihood of an outbreak of violence; (iii) whether the participants are aggravated; (iv) whether any firearms (or dangerous weapons or objects) are or will be present; (v) the intention of the participants; (vi) the actual number of participants that will take part; and (vii) any other information which is of importance for the operation;
3	make a thorough assessment on the available means, the mission, the threat as well as the surrounding circumstances.

	This will enable the Overall Commander to have a broad overview of what is expected and how he or she can achieve the objective;
4	arrange a security meeting with all the relevant role players needed to conduct the operation (for example; private security, the supervisor of the Marshals, Traffic Police, Emergency Medical Services (EMS), Disaster Management as well as other relevant police units);

A copy of all crowd related event plans must be submitted to the relevant POP unit for registration on the IRIS system and to the relevant Executive Head of Metro Police (if applicable) for information purposes;
8	activate a JOC and designate a JOC commander, operational commander , intelligence commander and a support commander, taking into account the circumstances and the results of the threat assessment in the event of a level 2 threat. In the event of a level 3 threat, the relevant POP unit operational commander must be designated in consultation with the relevant POP unit Commander and Provincial Head: ORS;

In all instances where the POP unit is actively involved in any operation (such as level 3) they must approach their information managers to gather information before, during and after the operation);
10	brief all the commanders and relevant command structures of the different Units or Departments;
11	ensure that a situation report is given to the POP operational room at the POP unit for the completion of an IRIS ; and
12	ensure that a copy of the de-briefing report is submitted to the relevant POP unit for filing.

- (3) All information gathered before, during and after an operation must be reported to the Overall Commander so that he or she is continuously aware of the actions of the participants. (The members must report all information to their officer in charge at the scene who must report it to the JOC Commander. POP information members must always be deployed with their operational members and tasked to gather specific information relating to possible threats). This information must be reported either telephonically or by radio (using the designated channel) to the Operational Commander, who will in turn inform the JOC Commander. The JOC Commander must keep the Overall Commander informed of the actions of participants.

 - (b) ensure that all members in the command structure communicate the objectives of the operation clearly to all members deployed for the event;
 - (c) instruct all commanders or section leaders to furnish detailed written plans on their specific tasks,
 - (d) ensure that trained video camera operators are designated to record video material of the duties performed; and
 - (e) ensure that members trained in first aid (medical ordinances) are also tasked should the need arise.
- (3) During the briefing, the tasks of all role players involved in the operation must be defined in detail by the operational commander. The command structure as set out in the operational plan must be clearly explained. The communication channel must also be communicated to all members before the operation.
- (4) A name list (SAPS 15) is to be compiled of all members present (as well as the equipment and firearms and ammunition at their disposal) when a briefing is given. Section leaders must be identified and briefed in accordance with the operational plan on what is to be done. Members must be questioned to ensure that they understand what is expected of them. A briefing certificate must be completed by each member, stating that he or she understands what is expected of him or her. Section leaders and commanders must then brief their members following the same procedure. This will ensure that everyone involved is properly briefed.

- (5) The operational commander must ensure that POP members are inspected in order to ensure that their name badges are clearly visible and that every member has at least —
- (a) body armour (bullet resistant vest and leg, chest and arm protection) and helmet (with gas mask and filter);
 - (b) a shield;
 - (c) a tonfa;
 - (d) pepper spray;
 - (e) handcuffs;

- (6) The operational commander must ensure that record is kept of each member's equipment, firearms and ammunition and that it is available once the inspection is finalised.

13. Execution of peaceful crowd management operations

- (1) The overall commander must designate a member, trained in POP operational tactics and techniques, as operational commander. The commander must at least have the rank of Warrant Officer or a higher rank in order to meet the criteria set out in section 9 of the Act.
- (2) An operation —
- (a) must be conducted in accordance with the operational plan;
 - (b) must preferably be conducted with a reserve (a reserve may be a section, platoon, company or even a group, depending on the size of the operation). (A reserve will provide the operational commander with options. The sections of the reserve will be utilised as part of the defensive measures, although they must have the capability to carry out offensive actions);
 - (c) the members taking part in the operation must be organised in sections, platoons, companies or groups. (A member must remain in his or her position, as instructed by the operational commander, and may not change, leave or abandon this position unless instructed to do so by the operational commander);
 - (d) the operational commander remains in command of the operation and takes all tactical and operational decisions. (the

- operational commander* must be well experienced in the handling of stressful situations);
- (e) a senior POP member must be designated to take operational command of POP members. (All other members of all agencies or disciplines supporting POP in a crowd management operation resort under the authority of the operational commander); and
 - (f) a member of any other agency, discipline, unit or station may not be permitted to perform duties in the same section, platoon, company, or group with POP members (unless the specific agency, discipline, unit or station has trained together with the POP unit and is able to function together with them as a cohesive unit.) (POP units have specialized training and should operate independently from all other members, unless the specific agency, discipline, unit or station has trained together with the POP unit and is able to function together with them as a cohesive unit. This will ensure the safety of the POP members as well as the safety of other members at the scene. This is particularly important in cases of medium and high risk operations.)
- (2) The operational commander must seek to build trust with the crowd and its representatives. This can be achieved by adhering to undertakings given. The use of force must be avoided at all costs and members deployed for the operation must display the highest degree of tolerance. The use of force and dispersal of crowds must comply with the requirements of section 9(1) and (2) of the Act. During any operation, ongoing negotiations must take place between police officers and conveners or other leadership elements to resolve issues before they escalate.

14. Execution of public order restoration operations

- (1) The use of force and dispersal of crowds must only be conducted by those members of POP trained in crowd management and equipped with the relevant crowd management equipment. The situation must be contained by members of Visible Policing at station level and Metro Police until POP members can take over the situation. If it is not possible to contain the situation or wait for POP to arrive, only members of Visible Policing at station level and Metro Police members trained in crowd management with the relevant equipment, may use the necessary force. No member of the Service or Metro Police in civilian clothing (for example detectives, members of crime intelligence etc.) may become involved in any crowd management situation. During all crowd management situations, members must be dressed in field dress or the prescribed cover-alls in order to display uniformity and professionalism.

(2) If negotiations fail and life (and property) is in danger, members must —

Step	Action
1	put defensive measures in place as a priority and contact the JOC immediately;
2	warn participants according to section 9 of the Act in at least two official languages and if possible also in the language that is most commonly spoken in that area. The warning must be audible and must include the action that will be taken against them, and is applicable should defensive measures fail. The warning should, if the circumstances permit, include an explanation of the steps that are going to be taken to disperse the crowd and should give the participants enough time to disperse peacefully, yet the time should not be so long that it gives the participants the impression that the Service is not serious. In cases of violence immediate action may be required.
3	bring forward the reserve or reaction section or platoon that will be responsible for offensive measures , as a deterrent to further violence, should the above-mentioned measures not achieve the desired result;
4	give a second warning in at least two official languages and if possible also in the language that is most commonly spoken in that area before the commencement of the offensive measures , giving innocent bystanders the opportunity to leave the area. The warning should give the participants and innocent bystanders enough time to leave the area, yet the time should not be so long that it gives the participants the impression that the Service is not serious. In cases where violence has already started the time frame should be shortened immediately; and
5	the operational commander must plan all offensive actions well and execute them under strict command after approval by the Overall Commander .

(3) If the use of force is unavoidable, —

- (a) the purpose of offensive actions must be to de-escalate conflict with the minimum force to accomplish the goal and therefore the success of the actions will be measured by the results of the operation in terms of loss of life, injuries to people, damage to property and cost;

- (b) the degree of force must be proportional to the seriousness of the situation and the threat posed in terms of situational appropriateness;
 - (c) it must be reasonable in the circumstances;
 - (d) the minimum force must be used to accomplish the goal; and
 - (e) the use of force must be discontinued immediately once the objective has been achieved;

- (3) A thorough evaluation must be conducted and, if possible, video footage must be shown.

- (4) All best practices, as well as shortcomings, must be recorded as part of a learning process to enhance best practices and address or prevent recurrences of identified mistakes.
- (5) Trainers and instructors must attend the debriefings, to review actions taken by members, and to address improper conduct by means of in-service training in crowd management techniques.
