I have been to the mountain top
And I have seen a glimpse of Africa to come
I have seen a political cyclone emerging
Radically to halt the sting of evil
And emancipate captive human race from the shackles

I have been to the mines
And I have seen gruesome scenes of agony
I have seen 'amagoduka' (migrants) buried alive
Natives losing their limbs and organs for life time
Sacred souls geared to permanent disability

I have been to Winterveld slums
And I have seen victims of deliberate policies
Man and beast dying of hunger alike
Falling apart under the dove of peace
All in the name of Christianity

I have been to Siza Dukashe stadium
The square of torture and murder in Ciskei
I have been to Oshakati and Ovamboland
Pains and tears was their story
Nevertheless modern socialism shall blunt the blade of evil

I have been to Ethiopia
And I have seen a display of countless human corpses
I have seen a natural episode
Conducted by nature itself
Upon defenceless and foodless human population

I have been to a convention
And I have seen your leaders and mine
Your leaders are shrewd and cunning
My leaders are human democratic Leaders are not born but produced by experience

Change is unknown in my ghetto
Change is endless bucket system in Alexandra
Change is pain in Africa
Change is throttled by misdirected surrogates of the world
Change of a free non racial democratic society is certain
* Revolutionary change shall set man free from bondage
And the reigns of autocracy shall fall
