

WHAT'S WRONG WITH THE SPY BILL?

The new Spy Bill would undermine democracy by promoting secrecy, eroding accountability in our security cluster, and allowing the Minister to spy on us.

Just as we've united to oppose the Secrecy Bill, South Africa must oppose the "General Intelligence Laws Amendment Bill" proposed by Siyabonga Cwele, the Minister of State Security.

1. It would create a centralised security agency by merging the National Intelligence Agency, the South African Secret Service and all other related intelligence bodies. These agencies were split up at the end of Apartheid to create a separation of powers.

2. It will make the security services more centralised, more politicised, and more secret – manipulated by whoever is in power. Part of their new mandate would be to ensure 'political stability'.

3. It would allow the spooks to intercept 'foreign' electronic communications (i.e. everything that passes through overseas servers via the internet) without a warrant. This lets government tap into emails, social networks, and even Skype calls without needing permission from a judge.

4. It will hands over blanket powers to the Minister of State Security to make appointments, issue security clearances and withhold information. That is, it makes the Minister into Big Brother.

GET INFORMED AND GET INVOLVED

Check out www.r2k.org.za and read the Bill, connect with us on Facebook, and follow @r2kcampaign for updates.

Stop State Secrecy! Let the Truth Be Told!

WHAT'S WRONG WITH THE SPY BILL?

The new Spy Bill would undermine democracy by promoting secrecy, eroding accountability in our security cluster, and allowing the Minister to spy on us.

Just as we've united to oppose the Secrecy Bill, South Africa must oppose the "General Intelligence Laws Amendment Bill" proposed by Siyabonga Cwele, the Minister of State Security.

1. It would create a centralised security agency by merging the National Intelligence Agency, the South African Secret Service and all other related intelligence bodies. These agencies were split up at the end of Apartheid to create a separation of powers.

2. It will make the security services more centralised, more politicised, and more secret – manipulated by whoever is in power. Part of their new mandate would be to ensure 'political stability'.

3. It would allow the spooks to intercept 'foreign' electronic communications (i.e. everything that passes through overseas servers via the internet) without a warrant. This lets government tap into emails, social networks, and even Skype calls without needing permission from a judge.

4. It will hands over blanket powers to the Minister of State Security to make appointments, issue security clearances and withhold information. That is, it makes the Minister into Big Brother.

GET INFORMED AND GET INVOLVED

Check out www.r2k.org.za and read the Bill, connect with us on Facebook, and follow @r2kcampaign for updates.

Stop State Secrecy! Let the Truth Be Told!